

HOW TO CHOOSE A RESEARCH METHOD

(a quick and dirty guide)

by Jim Spickard (2005-2007)

3 questions to answer:

- 1) Am I looking for something general, or for something particular?
- 2) Am I looking for something observable, or not?
- What kind of thing am I looking for? (action, belief, "trait")

THE RESEARCH OBJECT: THE KIND OF THING ONE SEEKS

|  | acts | reports of acts | personal opinions (shallow) | opinions | cultural   | Expertknowledge | personalfeelings | intra-psychic"traits" | self-identity | experience as it appears in consciousness | hidden social patterns |
|--|------|-----------------|-----------------------------|----------|------------|---------------------|----------------------|-------------------------------|-------------------|---|------------------------|
| detachedobservationparticipantobservation(ethnography) | Х    |                 | (criano ii)                 | (асср)   | in o modgo | Imomoago            | roomigo              | traite                        | idoning           |   | X                      |
|  | X    | х               | х                           | (X)      | х          | х                   |                      |                               | (X)               |   | х                      |
| in-depthinterview  |      | х               | X                           | Х        | X          | x                   | Х                    | (X)                           | Х                 | (X)                                       | (X)                    |
| questionnaire  |      | Х               | Х                           |          | Х          |                     |                      |                               |                   |   |                        |
| ethnoscience   |      |                 |                             |          | Х          | Х                   |                      |                               |                   |   |                        |
| phenomenology  |      | Х               |                             |          |            |                     |                      |                               |                   | X   |                        |
| ethnomethodology   |      | Х               |                             |          | Х          | Х                   |                      |                               |                   |   | Х                      |
| critical incidentinterviews  |      | Х               | Х                           | Х        | Х          |                     | (X)                  |                               |                   |   |                        |
| focus groups   |      |                 | X                           |          | X          | Х                   |                      |                               |                   |   |                        |
| psychological tests  |      |                 |                             |          |            |                     |                      | Х                             | Х                 |   |                        |
| content analysis   |      |                 |                             |          | Х          |                     |                      | (X)                           | (X)               |   | (X)                    |
| narrative/discourseanalysis  |      | х               |                             |          | Х          |                     |                      |                               | Х                 |   | Х                      |
| grounded theory  |      |                 |                             |          |            |                     |                      |                               |                   |   | X                      |

"X" = standard method for this object;

"(X)" = possible method, but requires extra depth &/or interpretation to get results